SPECIAL FINAL PRODUCT

GUIDE FOR FINISHING CATEGORIES

RAW Finishing

In this case, the furniture is only sanded, unfinished, it is suitable for those who want to apply a finishing later by their own. In manufacturing, only the most qualitative, healthy parts of the wood are chosen, so you can even apply a finish on your own. Certainly, the surfaces will be of superior quality, no impurities or color differences will appear.

Waxed finish

It is the warmest finishing type, obtained with premium quality stain and wax brought from the United Kingdom. The waxed finish conveys the natural appearance of the wood and besides the fact that it is compatible with most colors / shades, it will bring back the memories of the old times on furniture.

Painted finishes

It is the most popular finishing at Szel-Mob and not by chance, because through the latest technology used, the surfaces are painted twice so they will be glossy, smooth and fine, but in the same time underneath very discreetly you can still see the essence of the wood. We use only ecological water-based paint. The paints are of high quality, certified and are non-toxic, therefore they can be applied also for the furniture intended for the children's room. Our color palette includes 36 shades, from the classic, pastel through the elegant to the most vibrant and energizing ones. Enthusiasm, warmth and emotion are just a few feelings brought to your home through our painted furniture. We have built the color palette in such a way that we can meet any color culture needs.

Paint Antique

Any color in the Painted category can also be distressed. This procedure involves painting the furniture in the desired color followed by a special procedure performed exclusively by hand through which the edges of the elements are easily "scraped" and polished until the natural color of the wood appears very subtly. This handmade procedure is performed exclusively by our colleagues specialized in this procedure, so there are no two identical pieces of furniture, each being unique in terms of finish. The antique finish gives the furniture a Vintage effect, used, having a very pleasant patinated look.

Double Layer Antique

This finishing is similar to the Antique Painted finish but it is a much more complex procedure, the final look of the furniture is appropriate. In this case there are two layers of paints of different colors on the same surface. Two different colors are chosen, exclusively from the Painted color range, the whole surface is painted with the first color, after which a special wax is applied on the edges, then the second color is applied on the entire surface of the furniture. On the edges, where the special wax was applied, the second color will not stick so we will get two different colors on the same surface, with a strong antique look. The dominant and most visible color will therefore be the second chosen color, and the first chosen color will be visible on the edges. This procedure can even create strong contrasts such as black and white. If you want to harmonize the colors in the room where the furniture will be placed but still want a different color furniture, choose for the first layer the color of the room and for the second layer the desired color.

When choosing the colors for the furniture, always choose by using the wooden color samples provided, because printed or screen colors (PC / Laptop / Portable) may vary!

Double Color

For an even stronger contrast, we recommend the Double Color finishing. This finishing allows you to choose different colors on the same product, respectively one color for the interior of the furniture and another color for the exterior. Different colors can be ordered for the countertop of the respective product and for the rest of the furniture's body. In this finishing category you will be able to choose from the Painted colors and also from the other categories of Waxed, Brushed, even from the Deep Brushed category. By choosing this type of finishing, we guarantee that you will be able to create the most interesting, bold and original color combinations, which will ultimately be a real adornment of any home.

Stained and Lacquered

Stains are often used for softwood woods because they highlight the natural structure of the wood. In fact, they are also called positive-negative stains, because they are absorbed in the soft (positive) essence of the wood by coloring these parts and do not stick on the hard (negative) structures. It is a complex procedure that requires careful preparation. On the surface the stain is applied, which after drying is easily sanded, then a primer is applied and as a final layer the stained parts are covered with laquer. The end result is a special surface that emphasizes the natural structure of the wood.

Multicolor

This finishing category allows you to choose even more than 3 different colors on the same furniture. It is the characteristic finishing of multicolored chests of drawers, whose body is finished in one color, the countertop in another color and the drawers all of different colors. In this finishing category you will be able to choose from the Painted color range and from the other categories of Waxed, Brushed, and from the Deep Brushed category. Choosing this type of finishing a lot of bright colors will brighten up your home and give it a happy note! It is a finishing that really transforms the products into real cheerful elements of your home.

Brushed

Brushing is an exclusively manual procedure - an exclusive Handmade - through which the wood surface is easily brushed, resulting in a fine and very pleasant surface to the touch. In this finishing category are available 2 vintage shades. The brushed finish is in fact a complex procedure in which 7 different steps are followed. By applying this type of finish, the furniture is at the same time protected by varnish, but the wood fiber is accentuated by staining and the addition of a special patina.

Deep brushed

This finishing involves the application of a mechanical procedure made by a modern mechanized technology, the wood surface is brushed hard, the soft parts of the annual growth rings are thus removed, after which the wood will be treated with stain, patina and finally laquer or oil depending of the chosen color. At the Deep brushed finishing type, the solid wood feeling is even more accentuated, the resulting surface being a harder one, tougher to the touch but also more resistant to small impacts. This finishing is probably the most special, both in terms of the production procedure and the final result. The final look of the furniture is truly unique, unmatched.

Oak finishings

We offer 8 elegant shades for solid oak wood. These colors can be chosen as standard only for the countertops of products that have oak top, coded TOP OAK. All products can be made entirely of oak wood in all 8 shades available oiled or lacquered. In this sense it is necessary to contact the manufacturer Szel-Mob SRI. through the dedicated contact person.

PERSONALIZED REQUESTS

For personalized requests, contact directly the manufacturer Szel-Mob, where the specialized staff will provide free consultancy in choosing even more complex and personalized possibilities, the finishing options being almost infinite.
